Mission of GLC:

“to initiate, seek support for, and coordinate international training and development efforts linking resources with needs in the world community”.

GLC has established partnerships in Hungary with the City of Szeged, County of Csongrad and County of Veszprem by working on educational, cultural and business exchanges.

In the summer of 2008 the Great Lakes Consortium for International Training and Development worked with Northwest Ohio professors, American and Hungarian partners and sponsors to establish the first American Summer Institute (ASI). Based on the great success of one-week institutes in three locations (Szeged, Csongrad and Veszprem), GLC and Lourdes College professors were asked to organize again an ASI in 2011.

From June 25 through July 9, 2011, three professors from Lourdes College, and two assistant teachers will present one week programs at two locations (in Veszprem and in Szeged).

The goal of ASI is to enhance global understanding and cultural interactions, expand and develop connections between Hungarian and U.S. partners, share more information about NW Ohio and its academic institutions (The University of Toledo, Lourdes College and Bowling Green State University) and attract more students interested in pursuing studies in the U.S.

In addition to these common goals, members of the delegation have special interests, including expanding research and developing programs with academic partners in Hungary. Members of the delegation has a special focus on improving leadership skills among the young generation and engage them in contributing creative ideas to expand mutually beneficial economic, educational and cultural programs between Hungary and NW Ohio.

Dr. Dariel Jacobs and Dr. Paul Longenecker were part of the first ASI, but for the other three members of the this delegation, this is their first visit to Hungary. They are very interested in exploring both culture and community through various activities, including home hospitality to learn how Hungarian families life, visit cultural and historical sites in the Szeged/Csongrad County as well as Veszprem County and Lake Balaton area.

The 5-member delegation will conduct 5-day English conversation programs for high school and college students, and English teachers. They are prepared and very interested to share experience on many topics with the Hungarian participants of ASI and answer any questions that they may have about American life, culture, community, and education.

We would like to thank all Hungarian partners and supporters for their contributions to this program, and acknowledge the support of Lourdes College. Please follow us on Facebook: American Summer Leadership Institute.

Dr. Dariel Jacobs
Sylvania, Ohio
djacobs@lourdes.edu

Dariel Jacobs is an Associate Professor of Education in the Masters of Education program at Lourdes College.

Dariel has been working at Lourdes College for six years and before she worked at The University of Maine at Fort Kent for two years as Director of Student Teaching. Her area is Curriculum Teaching and Learning with a focus in Holistic and Aesthetic Education. She did her graduate work on what makes people hopeful. She was interested in how the arts are both a teaching and learning tool to gain knowing and understanding.

Dariel is married to Keith Shirk who is a meteorologist who is sometimes in Houston, TX, sometimes in Anchorage, AK and sometimes their home in Sylvania, OH.

Dariel was born in Canada and lived most of her life there until she came to the USA 10 years ago on a Fulbright Teaching Exchange. Whilst in Illinois, she met her husband Keith. Keith was in the Navy at that time and was then posted to Spain.

They married and she spent part of her time in Spain with him and part of her time in Toronto as a Ph.D. candidate. She has dual citizenship, both Canadian and USA. She still has four brothers in Calgary and numerous other relatives in Canada.

Dariel is interested in drama, international relations, global education and literacy. She is a member of the Sylvania Rotary club and would like to establish connections with Hungarian Rotary Club members.

She would like to expand her understanding of "cultural literacy" through applications of media. Her aim is to gain educational partnerships with Hungarian partners. Much of her interest is on how the arts enhance learning.

Patricia K. O'Connell
Toledo, OH
poconnell@lourdes.edu

Dr. Pat O'Connell is Associate Professor of Leadership Studies in the Masters of Organizational Leadership Program at Lourdes College in Sylvania, Ohio. She holds a B.S. in Business from Miami University, as well as an M.B.A. from the University of Toledo and a Ph.D. in Educational Psychology and Human Resources Development from the University of Toledo. Dr Pat was the first full time professor in the Leadership Studies program at Lourdes College.

She teaches Interpersonal Leadership and Organizational Leadership courses at the Masters' level. Dr. O'Connell's scholarly work includes articles and presentations on Franciscan leadership, women's leadership, and leadership voice. She currently serves on the Lourdes College Faculty Senate, and leads a task force on care for creation principles for the Sylvania Franciscan Village.

Dr. O'Connell began her career in marketing and marketing research at NFO Research, Northwood, Ohio, serving as project manager, manager of marketing, manager of field services, Vice President Information Systems, and Vice President Interviewing Services. As President of her own consulting firm (Pat Schmakel Associates) and then Principal with Frank Lynn & Associates in Chicago, she has worked with businesses and social service agencies in every industry to facilitate strategic planning processes, leadership team building sessions, and engage in leadership development coaching and counseling with top executives in many settings since 1984.

As an active and innovative community servant, Dr. Pat has focused on programs and service to adolescents, founding the Teens High on Life program at St. Rose School, revitalizing and leading the Glee Club Parents Board at Central Catholic High School, and serving Board of Directors at Central Catholic and Cardinal Stritch High Schools.

Dr. Pat currently serves on Faculty Senate and chairs several committees at Lourdes College. Her honors have included Tribute to Women in Industry designee, Entrepreneur of the Year finalist, and the Monsignor Harrington Award. Dr. O'Connell's current research stream involves the synthesis of several leadership theories with leadership voice, Franciscan values and organizational leadership, leadership team effectiveness, and self leadership into a simplified model for leadership development across the globe.
